CWA is a vital statewide group of women, influential in both state and federal agricultural legislation.

CWA provides critical education and outreach to those not directly involved in agriculture and ensures necessary fundraising and participation in local community and agricultural events. Our local chapter contributes to the Central Coast Ag Task Force, Ag Against Hunger, Monterey County Ag Education and the Ag Crime Task Force. We award scholarships to Tri-County students studying agriculture or women who are farm workers or the daughter or wife of a local farm worker.

CWA maintains a presence at the Ag Woman of the Year Luncheon, Farm Days, and County Fairs. Our public relations sub-committee addresses topics such as the Light Brown Apple Moth (LBAM), food safety, transportation, and water. As a member of the Salinas Valley Chamber of Commerce, CWA partners with other non-profit organizations. Our members continue to travel the state attending statewide meetings, including the May legislative visits where we storm the State Capitol to speak passionately on behalf of agriculture.
